Abstract	Childcare for infants and toddlers needs are increasing in Japan. Ensuring the quantity and quality of childcare is an urgent problem. There is a survey that many nursery teachers are not good at infant and toddlers care. It makes sense to improve “Childcare for Infants and Toddlers” lessons at education of nursery teachers school. Consider based on previous research on voices from childcare sites, Current status of nursery teachers school students, actual program of “Childcare for Infants and Toddlers”. Communication of knowledge is important, but how to convey it is also important. It is necessary to have in-depth study by thinking for themselves through discussion is required, not just mastering techniques. It is necessary to think about how to supplement the student's lack of experience in daily life and play.
