研究業績 英文表記

表題	7-1-La
方子 一方 大きな 一方 大きな 一方 大きな 一方 大きな 一方 大きな 一方 大きな 一方 一方 一方 一方 一方 一方 一方 一	和文
Title Author Title Affiliation Aff	表題
所属 1) 西九州大学 健康福祉学部 社会福祉学科 2) 熊本保健科学大学 保健科学部 リハビリテーション学科 生活機能療法学専攻 3) 西九州大学 リハビリテーション学部 リハビリテーション学科 生活機能療法学専攻 3) 西九州大学 リハビリテーション学部 リハビリテーション学科 英文 Title The Function and Role of Dementia Cafes for Family Support -Based on analysis of support records- Based on analysis of support recordsBased on analysis of support records (Faculty of Health Science Department of Rehabilitation Division Occupational Therapy) 3) Faculty of Rehabilitation Sciences Department of Rehabilitation Sciences Department of Rehabilitation Sciences Department of Rehabilitation Sciences, Nishikyushu University [Purpose] C Dementia Café is operated by qualified personnel in health, medical, and welfare services, mainly focusing on interaction and sharing concerns across families of people with dementia cafe for about five years, examined the consistency with the purpose of the activity, and discussed the issues of the activity and improvement plans. [Method] A quantitative text analysis was conducted on support records created between July 2017 and September 2022. [Results and Discussion] Three groups were found in the texts of support records: "listening, empathy, and support for response," "nursing care status and services," and "cooperation with care managers and municipal offices." In addition, there was a tendency to emphasize relationships with visitors in the first and second years and to respond to specific life and nursing care problems in and after the third and fourth years. [Conclusion] In the future, new ideas should be created to improve the operation of dementia cafes, such as preparing talk topics other than nursing care problems and de		一支援記録の分析を通して一
2) 熊本保健科学大学 保健科学部 リハビリテーション学科 生活機能療法学専攻 3) 西九州大学 リハビリテーション学部 リハビリテーション学科 英文 Title The Function and Role of Dementia Cafes for Family Support -Based on analysis of support records- Author Toshiko KATO ^D , Lisa SENBA ² , Megumi ITOU ³ Faculty of Health and Social Welfare Sciences, Nishikyushu University 2) Kumamoto Health Science University (Faculty of Health Science Department of Rehabilitation Division Occupational Therapy) 3) Faculty of Rehabilitation Sciences Department of Rehabilitation Sciences, Nishikyushu University [Purpose] C Dementia Café is operated by qualified personnel in health, medical, and welfare services, mainly focusing on interaction and sharing concerns across families of people with dementia. This paper reviewed the contents of family support at the dementia cafe for about five years, examined the consistency with the purpose of the activity, and discussed the issues of the activity and improvement plans. [Method] A quantitative text analysis was conducted on support records created between July 2017 and September 2022. [Results and Discussion] Three groups were found in the texts of support records: "listening, empathy, and support for response," "nursing care status and services," and "cooperation with care managers and municipal offices." In addition, there was a tendency to emphasize relationships with visitors in the first and second years and to respond to specific life and nursing care problems in and after the third and fourth years. [Conclusion] In the future, new ideas should be created to improve the operation of dementia cafes, such as preparing talk topics other than nursing care problems and developing an environment to encourage family members to support the operation of dementia cafes. dementia cafe, family support, consultation and support, record	著者名	加藤 稔子 1) 、仙波 梨沙 2) 、伊藤 恵美 3)
能療法学専攻 3) 西九州大学 リハビリテーション学部 リハビリテーション学科 英文 Title The Function and Role of Dementia Cafes for Family Support -Based on analysis of support records- Author Toshiko KATO ^D , Lisa SENBA [®] , Megumi ITOU [®] Faculty of Health and Social Welfare Sciences, Nishikyushu University 2) Kumamoto Health Science University (Faculty of Health Science Department of Rehabilitation Division Occupational Therapy) 3) Faculty of Rehabilitation Sciences Department of Rehabilitation Sciences Department of Rehabilitation Sciences, Nishikyushu University [Purpose] C Dementia Café is operated by qualified personnel in health, medical, and welfare services, mainly focusing on interaction and sharing concerns across families of people with dementia. This paper reviewed the contents of family support at the dementia cafe for about five years, examined the consistency with the purpose of the activity, and discussed the issues of the activity and improvement plans. [Method] A quantitative text analysis was conducted on support records created between July 2017 and September 2022. [Results and Discussion] Three groups were found in the texts of support records: "listening, empathy, and support for response," "nursing care status and services," and "cooperation with care managers and municipal offices." In addition, there was a tendency to emphasize relationships with visitors in the first and second years and to respond to specific life and nursing care problems in and after the third and fourth years. [Conclusion] In the future, new ideas should be created to improve the operation of dementia cafes, such as preparing talk topics other than nursing care problems and developing an environment to encourage family members to support the operation of dementia cafes. dementia cafe, family support, consultation and support, record	所属	1) 西九州大学 健康福祉学部 社会福祉学科
Title The Function and Role of Dementia Cafes for Family Support Based on analysis of support records- Based on analysis of support records- Toshiko KATO ¹⁾ , Lisa SENBA ²⁾ , Megumi ITOU ³⁾ Faculty of Health and Social Welfare Sciences, Nishikyushu University 2) Kumamoto Health Science University (Faculty of Health Science Department of Rehabilitation Division Occupational Therapy) 3) Faculty of Rehabilitation Sciences Department of Rehabilitation Sciences, Nishikyushu University [Purpose] C Dementia Café is operated by qualified personnel in health, medical, and welfare services, mainly focusing on interaction and sharing concerns across families of people with dementia. This paper reviewed the contents of family support at the dementia cafe for about five years, examined the consistency with the purpose of the activity, and discussed the issues of the activity and improvement plans. [Method] A quantitative text analysis was conducted on support records created between July 2017 and September 2022. [Results and Discussion] Three groups were found in the texts of support records: "listening, empathy, and support for response," "nursing care status and services," and "cooperation with care managers and municipal offices." In addition, there was a tendency to emphasize relationships with visitors in the first and second years and to respond to specific life and nursing care problems in and after the third and fourth years. [Conclusion] In the future, new ideas should be created to improve the operation of dementia cafes, such as preparing talk topics other than nursing care problems and developing an environment to encourage family members to support the operation of dementia cafes. dementia cafe, family support, consultation and support, record		2) 熊本保健科学大学 保健科学部 リハビリテーション学科 生活機
Title The Function and Role of Dementia Cafes for Family Support -Based on analysis of support records- Toshiko KATO¹⟩, Lisa SENBA²⟩, Megumi ITOU³⟩ Faculty of Health and Social Welfare Sciences, Nishikyushu University 2⟩ Kumamoto Health Science University (Faculty of Health Science Department of Rehabilitation Division Occupational Therapy) 3⟩ Faculty of Rehabilitation Sciences Department of Rehabilitation Sciences, Nishikyushu University [Purpose] C Dementia Café is operated by qualified personnel in health, medical, and welfare services, mainly focusing on interaction and sharing concerns across families of people with dementia. This paper reviewed the contents of family support at the dementia cafe for about five years, examined the consistency with the purpose of the activity, and discussed the issues of the activity and improvement plans. [Method] A quantitative text analysis was conducted on support records created between July 2017 and September 2022. [Results and Discussion] Three groups were found in the texts of support records: "listening, empathy, and support for response," "nursing care status and services," and "cooperation with care managers and municipal offices." In addition, there was a tendency to emphasize relationships with visitors in the first and second years and to respond to specific life and nursing care problems in and after the third and fourth years. [Conclusion] In the future, new ideas should be created to improve the operation of dementia cafes, such as preparing talk topics other than nursing care problems and developing an environment to encourage family members to support the operation of dementia cafes. dementia cafe, family support, consultation and support, record
Title The Function and Role of Dementia Cafes for Family Support -Based on analysis of support records- Toshiko KATO ¹⁾ , Lisa SENBA ²⁾ , Megumi ITOU ³⁾ Faculty of Health and Social Welfare Sciences, Nishikyushu University 2) Kumamoto Health Science University (Faculty of Health Science Department of Rehabilitation Division Occupational Therapy) 3) Faculty of Rehabilitation Sciences Department of Rehabilitation Sciences, Nishikyushu University [Purpose] C Dementia Café is operated by qualified personnel in health, medical, and welfare services, mainly focusing on interaction and sharing concerns across families of people with dementia. This paper reviewed the contents of family support at the dementia cafe for about five years, examined the consistency with the purpose of the activity, and discussed the issues of the activity and improvement plans. [Method] A quantitative text analysis was conducted on support records created between July 2017 and September 2022. [Results and Discussion] Three groups were found in the texts of support records: "listening, empathy, and support for response," "nursing care status and services," and "cooperation with care managers and municipal offices." In addition, there was a tendency to emphasize relationships with visitors in the first and second years and to respond to specific life and nursing care problems in and after the third and fourth years. [Conclusion] In the future, new ideas should be created to improve the operation of dementia cafes, such as preparing talk topics other than nursing care problems and developing an environment to encourage family members to support the operation of dementia cafes. dementia cafe, family support, consultation and support, record		3) 西九州大学 リハビリテーション学部 リハビリテーション学科
Author Toshiko KATO¹¹, Lisa SENBA²¹, Megumi ITOU³¹ Faculty of Health and Social Welfare Sciences, Nishikyushu University 2) Kumamoto Health Science University (Faculty of Health Science Department of Rehabilitation Division Occupational Therapy) 3) Faculty of Rehabilitation Sciences Department of Rehabilitation Sciences Department of Rehabilitation Sciences Department of Rehabilitation Sciences, Nishikyushu University [Purpose] C Dementia Café is operated by qualified personnel in health, medical, and welfare services, mainly focusing on interaction and sharing concerns across families of people with dementia. This paper reviewed the contents of family support at the dementia cafe for about five years, examined the consistency with the purpose of the activity, and discussed the issues of the activity and improvement plans. [Method] A quantitative text analysis was conducted on support records created between July 2017 and September 2022. [Results and Discussion] Three groups were found in the texts of support records: "listening, empathy, and support for response," "nursing care status and services," and "cooperation with care managers and municipal offices." In addition, there was a tendency to emphasize relationships with visitors in the first and second years and to respond to specific life and nursing care problems in and after the third and fourth years. [Conclusion] In the future, new ideas should be created to improve the operation of dementia cafes, such as preparing talk topics other than nursing care problems and developing an environment to encourage family members to support the operation of dementia cafes. dementia cafe, family support, consultation and support, record	英文
Author Toshiko KATO ¹⁾ , Lisa SENBA ²⁾ , Megumi ITOU ³⁾ Faculty of Health and Social Welfare Sciences, Nishikyushu University 2) Kumamoto Health Science University (Faculty of Health Science Department of Rehabilitation Division Occupational Therapy) 3) Faculty of Rehabilitation Sciences Department of Rehabilitation Sciences, Nishikyushu University [Purpose] C Dementia Café is operated by qualified personnel in health, medical, and welfare services, mainly focusing on interaction and sharing concerns across families of people with dementia. This paper reviewed the contents of family support at the dementia cafe for about five years, examined the consistency with the purpose of the activity, and discussed the issues of the activity and improvement plans. [Method] A quantitative text analysis was conducted on support records created between July 2017 and September 2022. [Results and Discussion] Three groups were found in the texts of support records: "listening, empathy, and support for response," "nursing care status and services," and "cooperation with care managers and municipal offices." In addition, there was a tendency to emphasize relationships with visitors in the first and second years and to respond to specific life and nursing care problems in and after the third and fourth years. [Conclusion] In the future, new ideas should be created to improve the operation of dementia cafes, such as preparing talk topics other than nursing care problems and developing an environment to encourage family members to support the operation of dementia cafes. dementia cafe, family support, consultation and support, record	Title	The Function and Role of Dementia Cafes for Family Support Affiliation Faculty of Health and Social Welfare Sciences, Nishikyushu University 2) Kumamoto Health Science University (Faculty of Health Science Department of Rehabilitation Division Occupational Therapy) 3) Faculty of Rehabilitation Sciences Department of Rehabilitation Sciences, Nishikyushu University [Purpose] C Dementia Café is operated by qualified personnel in health, medical, and welfare services, mainly focusing on interaction and sharing concerns across families of people with dementia. This paper reviewed the contents of family support at the dementia cafe for about five years, examined the consistency with the purpose of the activity, and discussed the issues of the activity and improvement plans. [Method] A quantitative text analysis was conducted on support records created between July 2017 and September 2022. [Results and Discussion] Three groups were found in the texts of support records: "listening, empathy, and support for response," "nursing care status and services," and "cooperation with care managers and municipal offices." In addition, there was a tendency to emphasize relationships with visitors in the first and second years and to respond to specific life and nursing care problems in and after the third and fourth years. [Conclusion] In the future, new ideas should be created to improve the operation of dementia cafes, such as preparing talk topics other than nursing care problems and developing an environment to encourage family members to support the operation of dementia cafes. dementia cafe, family support, consultation and support, record		-Based on analysis of support records-
Affiliation University 2) Kumamoto Health Science University (Faculty of Health Science Department of Rehabilitation Division Occupational Therapy) 3) Faculty of Rehabilitation Sciences Department of Rehabilitation Sciences, Nishikyushu University [Purpose] C Dementia Café is operated by qualified personnel in health, medical, and welfare services, mainly focusing on interaction and sharing concerns across families of people with dementia. This paper reviewed the contents of family support at the dementia cafe for about five years, examined the consistency with the purpose of the activity, and discussed the issues of the activity and improvement plans. [Method] A quantitative text analysis was conducted on support records created between July 2017 and September 2022. [Results and Discussion] Three groups were found in the texts of support records: "listening, empathy, and support for response," "nursing care status and services," and "cooperation with care managers and municipal offices." In addition, there was a tendency to emphasize relationships with visitors in the first and second years and to respond to specific life and nursing care problems in and after the third and fourth years. [Conclusion] In the future, new ideas should be created to improve the operation of dementia cafes, such as preparing talk topics other than nursing care problems and developing an environment to encourage family members to support the operation of dementia cafes. dementia cafe, family support, consultation and support, record	Author	Toshiko KATO ¹⁾ , Lisa SENBA ²⁾ , Megumi ITOU ³⁾ Affiliation Health Science Department of Rehabilitation Division Occupational Therapy) 3) Faculty of Rehabilitation Sciences Department of Rehabilitation Sciences, Nishikyushu University [Purpose] C Dementia Café is operated by qualified personnel in health, medical, and welfare services, mainly focusing on interaction and sharing concerns across families of people with dementia. This paper reviewed the contents of family support at the dementia cafe for about five years, examined the consistency with the purpose of the activity, and discussed the issues of the activity and improvement plans. [Method] A quantitative text analysis was conducted on support records created between July 2017 and September 2022. [Results and Discussion] Three groups were found in the texts of support records: "listening, empathy, and support for response," "nursing care status and services," and "cooperation with care managers and municipal offices." In addition, there was a tendency to emphasize relationships with visitors in the first and second years and to respond to specific life and nursing care problems in and after the third and fourth years. [Conclusion] In the future, new ideas should be created to improve the operation of dementia cafes, such as preparing talk topics other than nursing care problems and developing an environment to encourage family members to support the operation of dementia cafes. dementia cafe, family support, consultation and support, record	Affiliation	Faculty of Health and Social Welfare Sciences, Nishikyushu Therapy) 3) Faculty of Rehabilitation Sciences Department of Rehabilitation Sciences, Nishikyushu University [Purpose] C Dementia Café is operated by qualified personnel in health, medical, and welfare services, mainly focusing on interaction and sharing concerns across families of people with dementia. This paper reviewed the contents of family support at the dementia cafe for about five years, examined the consistency with the purpose of the activity, and discussed the issues of the activity and improvement plans. [Method] A quantitative text analysis was conducted on support records created between July 2017 and September 2022. [Results and Discussion] Three groups were found in the texts of support records: "listening, empathy, and support for response," "nursing care status and services," and "cooperation with care managers and municipal offices." In addition, there was a tendency to emphasize relationships with visitors in the first and second years and to respond to specific life and nursing care problems in and after the third and fourth years. [Conclusion] In the future, new ideas should be created to improve the operation of dementia cafes, such as preparing talk topics other than nursing care problems and developing an environment to encourage family members to support the operation of dementia cafes. dementia cafe, family support, consultation and support, record		University 2) Kumamoto Health Science University (Faculty of Rehabilitation Sciences, Nishikyushu University [Purpose] C Dementia Café is operated by qualified personnel in health, medical, and welfare services, mainly focusing on interaction and sharing concerns across families of people with dementia. This paper reviewed the contents of family support at the dementia cafe for about five years, examined the consistency with the purpose of the activity, and discussed the issues of the activity and improvement plans. [Method] A quantitative text analysis was conducted on support records created between July 2017 and September 2022. [Results and Discussion] Three groups were found in the texts of support records: "listening, empathy, and support for response," "nursing care status and services," and "cooperation with care managers and municipal offices." In addition, there was a tendency to emphasize relationships with visitors in the first and second years and to respond to specific life and nursing care problems in and after the third and fourth years. [Conclusion] In the future, new ideas should be created to improve the operation of dementia cafes, such as preparing talk topics other than nursing care problems and developing an environment to encourage family members to support the operation of dementia cafes. dementia cafe, family support, consultation and support, record		Health Science Department of Rehabilitation Division Occupational [Purpose] C Dementia Café is operated by qualified personnel in health, medical, and welfare services, mainly focusing on interaction and sharing concerns across families of people with dementia. This paper reviewed the contents of family support at the dementia cafe for about five years, examined the consistency with the purpose of the activity, and discussed the issues of the activity and improvement plans. [Method] A quantitative text analysis was conducted on support records created between July 2017 and September 2022. [Results and Discussion] Three groups were found in the texts of support records: "listening, empathy, and support for response," "nursing care status and services," and "cooperation with care managers and municipal offices." In addition, there was a tendency to emphasize relationships with visitors in the first and second years and to respond to specific life and nursing care problems in and after the third and fourth years. [Conclusion] In the future, new ideas should be created to improve the operation of dementia cafes, such as preparing talk topics other than nursing care problems and developing an environment to encourage family members to support the operation of dementia cafes. dementia cafe, family support, consultation and support, record		Therapy) 3) Faculty of Rehabilitation Sciences Department of health, medical, and welfare services, mainly focusing on interaction and sharing concerns across families of people with dementia. This paper reviewed the contents of family support at the dementia cafe for about five years, examined the consistency with the purpose of the activity, and discussed the issues of the activity and improvement plans. [Method] A quantitative text analysis was conducted on support records created between July 2017 and September 2022. [Results and Discussion] Three groups were found in the texts of support records: "listening, empathy, and support for response," "nursing care status and services," and "cooperation with care managers and municipal offices." In addition, there was a tendency to emphasize relationships with visitors in the first and second years and to respond to specific life and nursing care problems in and after the third and fourth years. [Conclusion] In the future, new ideas should be created to improve the operation of dementia cafes, such as preparing talk topics other than nursing care problems and developing an environment to encourage family members to support the operation of dementia cafes. dementia cafe, family support, consultation and support, record		Rehabilitation Sciences, Nishikyushu University and sharing concerns across families of people with dementia. This paper reviewed the contents of family support at the dementia cafe for about five years, examined the consistency with the purpose of the activity, and discussed the issues of the activity and improvement plans. [Method] A quantitative text analysis was conducted on support records created between July 2017 and September 2022. [Results and Discussion] Three groups were found in the texts of support records: "listening, empathy, and support for response," "nursing care status and services," and "cooperation with care managers and municipal offices." In addition, there was a tendency to emphasize relationships with visitors in the first and second years and to respond to specific life and nursing care problems in and after the third and fourth years. [Conclusion] In the future, new ideas should be created to improve the operation of dementia cafes, such as preparing talk topics other than nursing care problems and developing an environment to encourage family members to support the operation of dementia cafes. keyword dementia cafe, family support, consultation and support, record	Abstract	[Purpose] C Dementia Café is operated by qualified personnel in paper reviewed the contents of family support at the dementia cafe for about five years, examined the consistency with the purpose of the activity, and discussed the issues of the activity and improvement plans. [Method] A quantitative text analysis was conducted on support records created between July 2017 and September 2022. [Results and Discussion] Three groups were found in the texts of support records: "listening, empathy, and support for response," "nursing care status and services," and "cooperation with care managers and municipal offices." In addition, there was a tendency to emphasize relationships with visitors in the first and second years and to respond to specific life and nursing care problems in and after the third and fourth years. [Conclusion] In the future, new ideas should be created to improve the operation of dementia cafes, such as preparing talk topics other than nursing care problems and developing an environment to encourage family members to support the operation of dementia cafes. keyword dementia cafe, family support, consultation and support, record		health, medical, and welfare services, mainly focusing on interaction for about five years, examined the consistency with the purpose of the activity, and discussed the issues of the activity and improvement plans. [Method] A quantitative text analysis was conducted on support records created between July 2017 and September 2022. [Results and Discussion] Three groups were found in the texts of support records: "listening, empathy, and support for response," "nursing care status and services," and "cooperation with care managers and municipal offices." In addition, there was a tendency to emphasize relationships with visitors in the first and second years and to respond to specific life and nursing care problems in and after the third and fourth years. [Conclusion] In the future, new ideas should be created to improve the operation of dementia cafes, such as preparing talk topics other than nursing care problems and developing an environment to encourage family members to support the operation of dementia cafes. keyword dementia cafe, family support, consultation and support, record		and sharing concerns across families of people with dementia. This
Abstract Abstra		paper reviewed the contents of family support at the dementia cafe
plans. [Method] A quantitative text analysis was conducted on support records created between July 2017 and September 2022. [Results and Discussion] Three groups were found in the texts of support records: "listening, empathy, and support for response," "nursing care status and services," and "cooperation with care managers and municipal offices." In addition, there was a tendency to emphasize relationships with visitors in the first and second years and to respond to specific life and nursing care problems in and after the third and fourth years. [Conclusion] In the future, new ideas should be created to improve the operation of dementia cafes, such as preparing talk topics other than nursing care problems and developing an environment to encourage family members to support the operation of dementia cafes. keyword dementia cafe, family support, consultation and support, record		for about five years, examined the consistency with the purpose of the Abstract Results and Discussion] Three groups were found in the texts of support records: "listening, empathy, and support for response," "nursing care status and services," and "cooperation with care managers and municipal offices." In addition, there was a tendency to emphasize relationships with visitors in the first and second years and to respond to specific life and nursing care problems in and after the third and fourth years. [Conclusion] In the future, new ideas should be created to improve the operation of dementia cafes, such as preparing talk topics other than nursing care problems and developing an environment to encourage family members to support the operation of dementia cafes. keyword dementia cafe, family support, consultation and support, record		activity, and discussed the issues of the activity and improvement
Results and Discussion] Three groups were found in the texts of support records: "listening, empathy, and support for response," "nursing care status and services," and "cooperation with care managers and municipal offices." In addition, there was a tendency to emphasize relationships with visitors in the first and second years and to respond to specific life and nursing care problems in and after the third and fourth years. [Conclusion] In the future, new ideas should be created to improve the operation of dementia cafes, such as preparing talk topics other than nursing care problems and developing an environment to encourage family members to support the operation of dementia cafes. keyword dementia cafe, family support, consultation and support, record		plans. [Method] A quantitative text analysis was conducted on Abstract support records: "listening, empathy, and support for response," "nursing care status and services," and "cooperation with care managers and municipal offices." In addition, there was a tendency to emphasize relationships with visitors in the first and second years and to respond to specific life and nursing care problems in and after the third and fourth years. [Conclusion] In the future, new ideas should be created to improve the operation of dementia cafes, such as preparing talk topics other than nursing care problems and developing an environment to encourage family members to support the operation of dementia cafes. dementia cafe, family support, consultation and support, record		support records created between July 2017 and September 2022.
response," "nursing care status and services," and "cooperation with care managers and municipal offices." In addition, there was a tendency to emphasize relationships with visitors in the first and second years and to respond to specific life and nursing care problems in and after the third and fourth years. [Conclusion] In the future, new ideas should be created to improve the operation of dementia cafes, such as preparing talk topics other than nursing care problems and developing an environment to encourage family members to support the operation of dementia cafes. keyword dementia cafe, family support, consultation and support, record		[Results and Discussion] Three groups were found in the texts of care managers and municipal offices." In addition, there was a tendency to emphasize relationships with visitors in the first and second years and to respond to specific life and nursing care problems in and after the third and fourth years. [Conclusion] In the future, new ideas should be created to improve the operation of dementia cafes, such as preparing talk topics other than nursing care problems and developing an environment to encourage family members to support the operation of dementia cafes. keyword dementia cafe, family support, consultation and support, record		support records: "listening, empathy, and support for tendency to emphasize relationships with visitors in the first and second years and to respond to specific life and nursing care problems in and after the third and fourth years. [Conclusion] In the future, new ideas should be created to improve the operation of dementia cafes, such as preparing talk topics other than nursing care problems and developing an environment to encourage family members to support the operation of dementia cafes. keyword dementia cafe, family support, consultation and support, record		response," "nursing care status and services," and "cooperation with second years and to respond to specific life and nursing care problems in and after the third and fourth years. [Conclusion] In the future, new ideas should be created to improve the operation of dementia cafes, such as preparing talk topics other than nursing care problems and developing an environment to encourage family members to support the operation of dementia cafes. keyword dementia cafe, family support, consultation and support, record		care managers and municipal offices." In addition, there was a in and after the third and fourth years. [Conclusion] In the future, new ideas should be created to improve the operation of dementia cafes, such as preparing talk topics other than nursing care problems and developing an environment to encourage family members to support the operation of dementia cafes. keyword dementia cafe, family support, consultation and support, record		tendency to emphasize relationships with visitors in the first and new ideas should be created to improve the operation of dementia cafes, such as preparing talk topics other than nursing care problems and developing an environment to encourage family members to support the operation of dementia cafes. keyword dementia cafe, family support, consultation and support, record		second years and to respond to specific life and nursing care problems
cafes, such as preparing talk topics other than nursing care problems and developing an environment to encourage family members to support the operation of dementia cafes. keyword dementia cafe, family support, consultation and support, record		in and after the third and fourth years. [Conclusion] In the future, and developing an environment to encourage family members to support the operation of dementia cafes. dementia cafe, family support, consultation and support, record		new ideas should be created to improve the operation of dementia support the operation of dementia cafes. dementia cafe, family support, consultation and support, record		cafes, such as preparing talk topics other than nursing care problems keyword dementia cafe, family support, consultation and support, record		and developing an environment to encourage family members to keyword		support the operation of dementia cafes.
analysis	keyword	dementia cafe, family support, consultation and support, record analysis	