| Abstract | This paper focuses on the recently introduced foreign language subject in elementary schools, and aims to examine the possibilities and ideal approaches for foreign language education at the elementary school level. First, based on the explanations of the Elementary School Curriculum Guidelines, the goals of foreign language activities and the foreign language subject in elementary schools will be reviewed, and the procedures and methods for English education within these activities and subjects will be organized. Next, through practical examples, the challenges of the introduced English education will be examined. Finally, the aim is to clarify the issues surrounding English education in Japanese elementary schools and explore directions for improvement. |
