| Abstract | The “Children’s Museum,” a regional child rearing support program at our university, has been implemented since Academic Year2009, when the Faculty of Children’s Studies was established, and it will be entering its ninth year in AY2017. The unifying theme is the “creation of children’s culture”; the “Museum” provides an environment and play activities that include the elements required for children’s growth, such as physical play, sing ing, storytelling, science, and activities that bring us into contact with the nature around us. All these can be experienced in a context of interpersonal connections. Twelve meetings were held in AY2017 , with a total of131households (261people) participating. Thirty-five percent of participants indicated ” satisfied” for the activities they participated in, with60 % indicating ”very satisfied”. This paper reports the outcomes and future direction of program activities, based on the overview and program performance records of the AY2017”Children’s Museum,” and the data from the follow-up questionnaire targeting parents and elementary school students. |
