Abstract	School lunches are stipulated in the School Lunch Law as contributing to the sound physical and mental development of students and playing an important role in fostering correct understanding and appropriate judgment about food. In addition, seven goals for school meals are indicated, and each article clearly states the educational significance and role, and describes specific language. Under such circumstances, in July 2018, the School Lunch Implementation Standards were partially revised, and many schools are discussing and considering how to provide school lunches that contribute to the development of students. In this context, it is extremely important to set appropriate school lunch expenses, and the basic concept of this is presented from various perspectives, and the path to appropriate pricing is presented.
