研究業績 英文表記

Abstract began with telephone counseling and progressed to visiting counseling as the therapeutic relationship gradually deepened. Over this period, the symptoms manifested in waves and gradually subsided. This study discusses (1) the process of telephone/visiting counseling and (2) the structure of the psychotherapy process of	和文
一方面 西九州大学 Title Case Studies of Male Adolescents Who Have Transitioned from Telephone Counseling to Visiting Counseling Author Chikara Akagawa Affiliation Nishikyushu University This study presents case studies of male adolescents with somatic symptoms in school counseling. The initial psychotherapy process began with telephone counseling and progressed to visiting counseling as the therapeutic relationship gradually deepened. Over this period, the symptoms manifested in waves and gradually subsided. This study discusses (1) the process of telephone/visiting counseling and (2) the structure of the psychotherapy process of telephone/visiting counseling. Finally, the effectiveness and risks of	表題	電話面接と訪問面接へと移行した思春期男子との事例研究
Title Case Studies of Male Adolescents Who Have Transitioned from Telephone Counseling to Visiting Counseling Author Chikara Akagawa Affiliation Nishikyushu University This study presents case studies of male adolescents with somatic symptoms in school counseling. The initial psychotherapy process began with telephone counseling and progressed to visiting counseling as the therapeutic relationship gradually deepened. Over this period, the symptoms manifested in waves and gradually subsided. This study discusses (1) the process of telephone/visiting counseling and (2) the structure of the psychotherapy process of telephone/visiting counseling. Finally, the effectiveness and risks of	著者名	赤川 力
Title Case Studies of Male Adolescents Who Have Transitioned from Telephone Counseling to Visiting Counseling Author Chikara Akagawa Affiliation Nishikyushu University This study presents case studies of male adolescents with somatic symptoms in school counseling. The initial psychotherapy process began with telephone counseling and progressed to visiting counseling as the therapeutic relationship gradually deepened. Over this period, the symptoms manifested in waves and gradually subsided. This study discusses (1) the process of telephone/visiting counseling and (2) the structure of the psychotherapy process of telephone/visiting counseling. Finally, the effectiveness and risks of	所属	西九州大学
Author Chikara Akagawa Affiliation Nishikyushu University This study presents case studies of male adolescents with somatic symptoms in school counseling. The initial psychotherapy process began with telephone counseling and progressed to visiting counseling as the therapeutic relationship gradually deepened. Over this period, the symptoms manifested in waves and gradually subsided. This study discusses (1) the process of telephone/visiting counseling and (2) the structure of the psychotherapy process of telephone/visiting counseling. Finally, the effectiveness and risks of Affiliation Nishikyushu University This study presents case studies of male adolescents with somatic symptoms in school counseling. The initial psychotherapy process began with telephone counseling and progressed to visiting counseling as the therapeutic relationship gradually deepened. Over this period, the symptoms manifested in waves and gradually subsided. This study discusses (1) the process of telephone/visiting counseling and (2) the structure of the psychotherapy process of telephone/visiting counseling. Finally, the effectiveness and risks of	Title	-
This study presents case studies of male adolescents with somatic symptoms in school counseling. The initial psychotherapy process began with telephone counseling and progressed to visiting counseling as the therapeutic relationship gradually deepened. Over this period, the symptoms manifested in waves and gradually subsided. This study discusses (1) the process of telephone/visiting counseling and (2) the structure of the psychotherapy process of telephone/visiting counseling. Finally, the effectiveness and risks of	Author	Chikara Akagawa
Abstract Symptoms in school counseling. The initial psychotherapy process began with telephone counseling and progressed to visiting counseling as the therapeutic relationship gradually deepened. Over this period, the symptoms manifested in waves and gradually subsided. This study discusses (1) the process of telephone/visiting counseling and (2) the structure of the psychotherapy process of telephone/visiting counseling. Finally, the effectiveness and risks of	Affiliation	Nishikyushu University
	Abstract	symptoms in school counseling. The initial psychotherapy process began with telephone counseling and progressed to visiting counseling as the therapeutic relationship gradually deepened. Over this period, the symptoms manifested in waves and gradually subsided. This study discusses (1) the process of telephone/visiting counseling and (2) the structure of the psychotherapy process of telephone/visiting counseling. Finally, the effectiveness and risks of
keyword	keyword

[※]本データの英文表記は実際の論文上の表記とは異なります。